American international College selects CampusDocs CampusDocs to help streamline the college's management of student records.

HONOLULU, HAWAII – (February 20, 2009) American International College (AIC) has selected CampusDocs, Inc. to provide document imaging and management services. CampusDocs provides colleges and universities nationwide with Web-based, hosted document management services specifically designed for higher education.

"We were looking for more than just a document management solution, we wanted a partner that could provide us the attention and service required to make this project a success, and do it without breaking the bank." says Oliver Layne, Registrar for AIC. "CampusDocs fit that bill for us. We look forward to working with CampusDocs."

"In this economic environment, campuses are looking for new and creative ways to do more with less. says Kevin Awaya, CampusDocs President. "We believe our software as a service (or SaaS) approach offers campuses better service with only a fraction of the cost of typical solutions. We are excited to be working with AIC and look forward to building a lasting relationship."
